Jindal Steel & Power Ltd wins SAIL-IIM (A) award for excellence in HR management

Instituted by SAIL in collaboration with IIM-A the award fetes JSPL for its outstanding HR practices

New Delhi, July 10, 2009 -In recognition of its outstanding people practices, Jindal Steel & Power Ltd (JSPL) was conferred with a landmark honour, the inaugural SAIL-HR award for excellence in human resource management on Thursday at a prestigious event in New Delhi. Hon'ble Union Minister for Steel, Mr Virbhadra Singh gave away the award. Instituted this year in collaboration with the country's most admired business school, the Indian Institute of Management, Ahmadabad (IIM-A), the award commemorates 50 years of SAIL in the steel business and awards companies that celebrate their people with innovative, caring and inspirational HR processes. The citation says it all. Management gurus at IIM-A and veteran practitioners in the steel industry at SAIL, chose Jindal Steel for the prize to honour its "commitment to creating a culture of performance and growth among its employees." There were other reasons too, listed in the citation. The award salutes the company's practice of mentoring its people, recognizing its workers and executives, listening to their needs and fulfilling them with schools, colleges and hospitals and finally its resolve to protect and rejuvenate the environment. The award on behalf of Jindal Steel and Power Limited was received by Dr. Sanjeev Sahni, Head - Strategic HR, JSPL and Mr. C D Mathew, GM -HR, JSPL.
